

Brandi Chapman

Brandi S. Chapman, a Louisiana native, received her formal dance training at the Morgan St Dance Company in Broussard, LA. It was then that she first discovered her passion for dance. In 2002, taking a leap of faith, Brandi auditioned and was accepted in the prestigious Alvin Ailey American Dance Theatre's Summer Intensive and Certification program in New York City. While there, she trained under greats such as Anne Marie Forsythe, Karen Arceanoux, Troy Powell, and Dennis Jefferson to name a few.

Returning to her native home, Brandi completed her post secondary education graduating from Louisiana State University in 2003. Brandi now has 16 years of teaching experience under her belt. After working with a mentor of hers, Debbie Allen, Brandi was inspired to open her own studio, En Pointe Dance Studio. Since opening her doors in 2013, En Pointe has become more than she has ever imagined. She has been recognized nationally by BET, Essence Magazine, and Misty Copeland herself, for "breaking the internet" with a photo of her students. Brandi continues to share her passion classical technique and her love for dance with every student she encounters.
